Volunteer Trip to Cartagena, Colombia

Spring break 2013 non-credit service learning abroad opportunity
March 10 – 17, 2013

Spend spring break volunteering with young children in beautiful Colombia

Work in local pre-schools and hospitals. The team will be based in the historic town, a large beach resort area, and will travel every day to the work sites. Students will participate in various cultural activities to include cooking classes, dance lessons, excursion to the Totumo Mud Volcano, snorkeling, museum tours, and visits to historic sites. Students will gain experience working in pre schools such as Sueños de Libertad, Villa Gloria, as well as in the Casa del Niño Children’s Hospital. You will learn more than you dreamed about everyday life in Colombia.

Colombia is one of the most beautiful, welcoming, humble, and generous countries I have ever had the opportunity to visit. The food, the people, the culture are all unique and special to Colombia; you won’t experience anything like it anywhere else! I will never forget the feeling of giving the children and their families the donations--they were so genuinely thankful. The hugs I received were honest; you could feel their warmth and for a week, I felt a part of a bigger, global family.
